RIDES AWAY TO SAFETY

Negro Francis Stole Horse Last Night

IN TOWN OF MONROE, ME.

Horse Came Back This Morning Showing Signs of Having Been Ridden Hard

—The Convict Was Seen Yesterday.

Monroe, Me., Nov. 24.—Minot St. Clair, the negro convict, last night stole another horse, by means of which he is now well advanced toward New Brunswick or Canada. A girl saw him enter an unoccupied frame house at West Liberty, five miles from here, and then he disappeared into the woods. Later he stole a horse from the stable of Galen Kent at Orrington. The animal returned about this morning, showing signs of having been ridden hard.

Early yesterday someone, presumably Francis, was fired at by James Wormley of this town and frightened away, while attempting to steal a horse and wagon to replace those recovered on Thursday night.

A stable not far from where the Stearns horse stolen outfit was captured, was broken open and a light wagon was hauled to a field about 200 rods away. Then a horse was led to the field. When discovered the invader was searching for a harness. Wormley fired one shot at him, but missed, and Francis, if it was he, made good his escape into the woods.

The night was so dark an effort to overtake him was considered useless. At dawn, however, the officers, joined by several villagers, began a search of the woods, which are very thick.

Warden Norton said yesterday that he had no doubt Francis was completely bewildered and had no idea of the part of the country in which he was traveling. He said that one of Francis' legs and both of his feet were in such bad shape that he could not get far away without obtaining another horse, and even then he could not go far.

Aged Morrisville Man Had a Tussle With Them.

Morrisville, Nov. 24.—On Thursday, as W. W. Small, a man of 78 years, was driving home from Stowe, Andrew McLean and Mark Nelson asked for a ride which Mr. Small granted. The young men proved to be in a noisy condition, stepping through some windows which were in the wagon, and not being satisfied with the way Mr. Small was driving, they made a hard fight to get possession of the lines, but Mr. Small after driving for 70 years concluded to do his own driving and did so after a struggle with the roughs. Later on they smashed a barrel of elder which was on the load, losing half the contents. The young men will probably have a hearing later on.
